Numbers continued to decline at the vealer portion of this market's two-day format. There continued to be a reasonable spread of numbers throughout the classes with quality remaining mixed as producers near the end of their turnoff numbers as we near the end of the vealer selling season. The market recorded a slightly improved feeder and restocker demand throughout the classes with most realising dearer values with both the trade and live exporters selective once again in their purchases.

Heavy vealer steers to feed topped at 185c to average 180c/kg. Medium weight vealer heifers to restock averaged 167c while those to feed settled on 160c to be 5c/kg higher. Yearling steers to feed settled on 152c/kg.
