Cattle supply wasn't an issue online this week with AuctionsPlus offering 10,451 head, an increase of 2,500 from last week. What's more, the vast amount of cattle on offer did not crowd the market with a strong 79% clearance.

This week first calver PTIC females averaged $1,360, ranging from $1,140 to $1,645. While mixed age PTIC females sold from $1,000 to $1,610 with an average of $1,340. A number of standout lines included 570kg, 6 to 9 year old Glenavon blood Angus cross cows from Walcha, NSW, which were PTIC to an Angus bull sold for $1,645. While 596kg Kenny's Creek blood 3 to 6 year old Angus cows sold for $1,610. These cows were PTIC to Hazeldean blood bulls.

Selling agent Shad Bailey from Colin Say and Co thanked purchasers, under-bidders and AuctionsPlus for this unbelievable result and that the auction system speaks for itself, don't underestimate the value of your livestock.
