

LAWSON GRAINS

Commercial Analyst

Lawson Grains Pty Ltd is a growing company that owns and operates a diversified portfolio of large scale broadacre cropping enterprises throughout New South Wales and Western Australia. We are seeking an experienced candidate for the role of Commercial Analyst based at our Albury office in NSW. This role forms part of a small team providing the successful candidate with the ability to be involved in a wide range of activities and to work autonomously.

As a member of the Operations Team, this position will focus on providing quality financial and commercial insight, performance monitoring and analytics to influence operational strategy.

The following experience and qualities are essential;

- 2+ years experience in a similar commercial/agribusiness role
- Tertiary qualifications in Business or Commerce
- Financial analysis and reporting capabilities with proven ability to build business cases
- Passion for problem solving and finding solutions
- Excellent communication & interpersonal skills
- Attention to detail with a high level of accuracy
- An interest in Australian agriculture.

We are looking for someone who is driven, committed and energetic with a high degree of integrity. Lawson Grains offers a supportive and inclusive culture and fosters career development and progression, encouraging internal transfers and/or promotions throughout the business.

If you have the above skills and experience and are looking for your next challenging role, submit your resume and covering letter to employment@lawsongrains.com

If you would like more information on this opportunity including a position description, feel free to contact Robyn Heap on 0439 414 295.

Website: www.lawsongrains.com

