

Senior Business Analyst Corporate Farming

- Institutional investment
- Large scale farming operations
- Southern NSW location

A unique opportunity exists with a dedicated agricultural company that owns and operates a diversified portfolio of large scale farms nationally, spanning prime broadacre farming regions across both eastern and western Australia.

A Senior Business Analyst – Corporate Farming is currently being sought to join the head office in Southern NSW. The role will work proactively across the wider organisation incorporating production, commodity marketing and strategy. It provides detailed analysis in assessing potential investment opportunities and the preparation of business cases for the Executive Committee and Board. Additionally, it will assist with the development of group operating budgets and the provision of timely reporting across the business.

The position will assist with the development, implementation and execution of marketing and hedging strategies, provide commodity market analysis to stakeholders across the group, as well as develop benchmarking methodologies for marketing activities, asset performance and group performance relative to other industry participants.

To be considered for this opportunity you will have:

- Financial analysis and reporting capabilities with proven ability to build business cases
- Tertiary qualifications in Business or Commerce
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- 2+ years experience in a similar commercial/agribusiness role
