

Operations Manager - National Livestock Reporting Service

- High impact and value adding role
- Sydney location with frequent travel
- June start date ideal

At MLA, we're passionate about our people and our industry. We love to innovate and collaborate both inside and out! We're producer owned and add value to a $15 billion Australian red meat industry through R&D, global marketing and other value adding services.

We have an excellent opportunity for an Operations Manager to lead MLA's National Livestock Reporting Service (NLRS) which provides independent market information including the latest pricing, forecasts and analysis of Australia's red meat markets.

This role adds value to our industry by leading our dedicated team of 25 livestock market assessors located around Australia; fosters close collaborative relationships with key internal and external stakeholders and maintains a positive reputation of the service by meeting stakeholder needs.

In managing the day to day operations of NLRS, the ideal candidate will have proven experience in motivating and leading a diverse team with a collaborative and participative leadership style; have strong business administration skills including operations, financial, people, safety and IT management; have a thorough understanding of the Australian livestock industry and relevant tertiary qualifications.

In return, we offer the opportunity to work directly with industry and a great team. We put your professional development first with on the job training, tertiary education assistance, career progression and a high performance, values driven culture. Other benefits include flexible work hours, generous salary packaging, staff discounts and a brand new workplace.

For further information, please contact the People and Values team on 02 9463 9333 or careers@mla.com.au

Applications strictly close: 07 May 2014

Candidate screening and interviews may be conducted prior to the closing date of the advert.