Join the team and secure your future

Our Smithton plant is processing large numbers of cattle and we need boners, slaughtermen & general labourers.

Meat processing experience would be helpful but isn't essential. Suitable candidates without previous experience will receive full comprehensive training that is nationally accredited. It leads to a fully recognised meat processing trade qualification.

Greenham Tasmania is a 100% Australian family owned business and the Smithton facility has been operating for almost fifteen years and processes the fYbck bYX Cape Grim Beef brand. Located in north west Tasmania, the region offers a wide range of recreational and sporting opportunities. It is a paradise for fishing enthusiasts and great for families.

Meat processing is strenuous work and requires physical fitness and strength. Applicants will have to undergo a medical examination, and drug and alcohol screening. The company offers excellent wages and conditions.

Applicants who have previously applied for these positions do not have to reapply.
