

Veterinary consultant – Sandi Jephcott BVSc MSc MBA

Looking for expert veterinary and/or nutritional advice in your beef supply chain business?

Experienced Queensland/Northern Australian cattle vet Sandi Jephcott is expanding her client base.

Sandi has had extensive experience as an executive, business manager, veterinarian and academic in the beef cattle industry, working in both the arid tropics and temperate environments.

She has practised in both developed and developing countries; and in intensive and extensive production systems.

Having successfully completed a Master of Business Administration at Bond University, Sandi can relate this applied experience to other business fields, and has been an owner/active shareholder in four businesses, from cattle production to vet practise.

Her broad career in veterinary practise has included:

- Seven years as managing vet at Chinchilla Vet Services, a mixed practise including ten beef cattle feedlot clients
- Six years as general manager for livestock health and production, research, rangelands and environment with Stanbroke Pastoral Co
- Five years as a practising vet and nutritionist with feedlot consultants, Nutrition Service Associates
- Two years as veterinarian at Oakey Holdings' Whyalla feedlot near Texas.

She specialises in:

- Cow-calf operations, grass fattening, feedlot
- Business analysis
- Vet services – bull & preg testing, disease investigation, other
- Nutrition

Contact Sandi direct to discuss your needs and objectives - 07 4626 5312 mobile 0437 259 631 email: sandibeef@gmail.com