

Executive Director

- Leading voice of the Animal Health industry
- Team leadership focus
- Canberra

Animal Medicines Australia (AMA) has the vision to drive an environment that promotes animal wellness, safe food outcomes and human health benefits from responsible animal ownership, in partnership with key stakeholders. They achieve this through maintaining their effective role of representing and advocating the animal health industry to a range of stakeholders including government, regulators, media, relevant industries and the general public.

They now seek to appoint an Executive Director to lead the organisation in the next phase of development. Reporting to the board via the Chair, they will actively lead a professional team to foster an environment that positively supports a viable, innovative and responsible industry, with a commitment to sustainability, stewardship and community acceptance. Key areas of focus for the organisation include regulatory affairs, policy and advocacy, communications and marketing and member services.

To be successful in this demanding yet very rewarding position, you will require significant experience at senior management level, ideally working for a high profile industry organisation preferably with an exposure to production and or companion animals. Further, you will be regarded as an exceptional leader, business manager and team player with personal drive, energy and credibility. You will possess highly developed networking, facilitation and negotiation skills across a diverse range of stakeholders and a proven, effective track record of dealing with government and authorities both State and Federal.

This is a critical position for the animal health industry as well as a high profile career opportunity. For confidential enquiries, please phone Mick Hay or Sharon Moloney on 07 3878 3411 or apply via www.rimfireresources.com.au
