

JOHN DEE

FEEDLOT OPERATIONS MANAGER

John Dee Warwick Pty Ltd is a proudly Australian owned industry leader, operating Yarranbrook – a 19,000 head capacity modern feedlot, located just 13kms South West of Inglewood.

A permanent salary position is available within this dynamic and progressive agribusiness for a hands on and commercially orientated Feedlot Operations Manager. The successful applicant will directly manage a modern and well-constructed feedlot that is part of a broader developed beef supply chain group of companies playing a leading role in domestic and international beef markets.

Ideally, the candidate will have 5 years of feedlot experience with extensive knowledge of animal nutrition and cattle best management practices. Management or senior experience within a feedlot production based facility is desirable as is effective people management, staff development, and team building techniques.

Reporting to the Chief Executive Officer and leading a dedicated team, you will be responsible for managing daily feedlot operations including multiple livestock feeding programs, plant and equipment maintenance, water supply, feed milling and animal welfare/husbandry to enable the company to achieve its performance objectives.

You will be responsible for day to day staff supervision, task allocation and training of up to 25 employees ensuring their safety and performance across a range of activities. With demonstrated success as a team leader, proven management skills, you'll thrive with ongoing development, leadership support and enjoy learning the specifics of group operations in a rewarding team environment.

An attractive salary package inclusive of vehicle and accommodation will be negotiated with the successful applicant.
