

GM Agriculture Operations

- Diversified, Vertically Integrated Agri Group
- Operations & Production Performance Focus

Hancock Prospecting Pty Ltd (HPPL) has been rapidly developing a portfolio of cattle station, beef production and dairy assets over the last 3 years. This includes significant investments in established businesses such as S. Kidman & Co Limited and Bannister Downs Dairy, along with the development of the wagyu beef brand 2GR. As a proven agri-leader this is an outstanding opportunity to bring your primary production and operations management experience to a fast-moving, growing agribusiness with a long-term investment strategy and significant shareholder support.

Reporting to the CEO of HPPL Agriculture, you will be responsible for leading the production activities of HPPL Agriculture's 100% owned beef cattle properties across Australia. This includes day-to-day responsibility for managing the performance of Station/Farm Managers and their operations, managing the implementation of breeding and production strategies across HPPL Agriculture's beef cattle operations, managing the marketing & sale of live cattle, establishing the supply of feeder and slaughter cattle to HPPL's downstream operations and ensuring effective working relationships with other unit managers, traditional owners & other stakeholders. You will also be responsible for leading safety, developing and driving the delivery of business plans and budgets, and regular reporting to the Board on performance to plan. You will play an important role in the identification and development of new business opportunities across HPPL's pastoral portfolio, and develop and present investment proposals for review and approval.

Your success in this role will be built upon the strength of your knowledge, experience and capability in the management of pastoral operations. You will also have the necessary leadership qualities to manage a team through a period of growth & change including the implementation of new systems, processes and practices to drive improvements in production, quality, health & safety, and animal welfare. You understand your role in the production and marketing supply chain and have a track record of developing value in the operations. Most importantly, you must demonstrate a passion for innovation and vision for the future of the pastoral industry in Australia.

For a confidential discussion please call Paul Duffy – Director, Agile Executive Search & Recruitment on 0407 066 636 or email your application to apply@agilesearch.com.au

All enquiries or submissions in relation to this role should be directed to Paul Duffy – 0407 066 636

