

Wellard Animal Processing is a growing division of the Wellard Group specialising in meat processing and trading, selling meat proteins domestically, and exports into almost every market of the world.

Due to an exciting period of growth, we have a rare opportunity available to an experienced Operations Manager to join our well-known, Australian meat production company in Beaufort River, where you will be instrumental in driving the company forward through a mantra of continuous improvement and strong leadership.

The Role:

As the Operations Manager, you will be part of the Senior Management team. Your main responsibility will be to manage the daily operating activities of the plant, ensuring that the needs of team members, suppliers and customers are met, whilst achieving optimum yields and cost effectiveness.

The successful candidate will be required to lead by example, ensuring professionalism, integrity and superior customer relations are provided to all stakeholders at all time.

Additional responsibilities will include, but are not limited to:

- Implementation of manufacturing policies, including operating plans and budgets
- Assume the overall responsibility and accountability for production performance of the plant
- Ensure that objectives and targets are consistently achieved to maximum efficiency within budget
- Being an agent for change allowing further growth and;
- Championing company goals and objectives

The Person:

The successful candidate will thrive on being a "hands on" Manager and will have a wealth of food processing and plant management experience. They will also have the demonstrated natural ability to lead, mentor and develop a great team to into achieving company objective and goals, and will also be able to support rapid growth in their ability to consistently think outside the box.

Further skills required include:

- A background in food manufacturing (Dairy / Meat / FMCG)
- 3 - 5+ years' experience in leadership positions
- Demonstrated successful experience managing teams
- Strong computer skills including Microsoft excel
- Strong problem-solving skills focusing on solutions

The Benefits:

If you know that you can hit the ground running, and have the energy and enthusiasm to drive results, please apply now by sending a copy of your resume to recruitment@wellard.com.au with the subject – Operations Manager.

You will be joining a company that is currently thriving, has excellent market share within its industry and a strong positive culture. The selected candidate will be well rewarded with a competitive remuneration package that will be negotiated with the successful candidate, including housing and assistance with relocation.