

Located in Central West NSW, a long-term Stationhand position is currently available on a 6,500 acre cattle property with an NFAS accredited feedlot. In addition to the feedlot operations is a herd of Fullblood Wagyu cattle and backgrounding operation.

Reporting to the Farm Manager, this role requires an energetic, team oriented individual with experience in all aspects of beef cattle, farming & feedlot production. As part of the team, previous experience in daily feedlot operations including all aspects of lotfeeding such as bunk feeding, induction, maintenance, as well as other general farm duties are ideal.

The successful applicant would need to be hands on, good with machinery/equipment and be able to make decisions while being detail oriented. Experience in cattle husbandry, farm management, sowing & spraying of winter crops & pastures are also required.

A modern 4-bedroom house is provided as part of the remuneration package. The property is close to schools & services. Salary remuneration will be dependent upon experience.
