

JBS Australia is currently recruiting:

Grain Fed Operations Assistant Analyst

LOCATION: Riverview QLD

About the Role:

This role is a newly created exciting opportunity within the business analysis function of JBS Australia Feedlots. The scope of this position covers five feedlots across Queensland and New South Wales with a total carrying capacity of 145,000 head.

Fitting strategically within a vertically integrated operational model, our feedlots service two grain fed production facilities. We utilise a large number of different feeding programs and cattle types. With this diversity comes variety, technical challenges and opportunities that are unique within the feedlot industry.

This position will be fast paced and will play an important supporting role in the development of strategy and business improvement. The role will also help influence the day-to-day running of the feedlot operations. Some travel to the five feedlot facilities will be required from time to time.

Responsibilities:

The role offers a wide variety of responsibilities that will have an impact across the entire JBS Australia Feedlot Division. This includes:

- Operational data analysis, reporting and problem solving
- Trial/research administration
- Stakeholder relationship management
- Cattle inventory management
- Feedlot analysis system and process improvement

Key criteria:

The successful candidate will be able to demonstrate the following skills and attributes:

- Demonstrated computer literacy in excel, word and outlook
- Responds calmly in difficult situations maintaining a strong customer service focus
- Excellent attention to detail with a keen interest in data and business performance
- Demonstrated ability to work autonomously and within a team environment
- Must be passionate and enthusiastic about the cattle industry with a demonstrated focus on process/system improvement
