

The role: Technical Officer

Who's your boss: Special Projects Manager (day to day reporting to Eva Downs Ops Manager)

Where you'll live: Eva Downs Station, Barkly Tablelands, NT

Why this role exists

As a Technical Officer you will be solely responsible for the integrity, accuracy and operations of the Eva Downs Research Facility. This responsibility encompasses the physical asset, inclusive of the infrastructure and the instrumentation installed in the facility, the livestock, and the validity as well as the storage of the raw data.

Responsibilities

Your main responsibilities will include (but not limited to):

- Integrity of the Eva Downs Trial Facility
- Operation and execution of trial programs
- Data capture and storage
- Contribute to the Company's corporate social responsibility profile

Experience and qualities required

- Tertiary qualification that indicates an aptitude and exposure to a technical environment
- Sound knowledge of cattle production and related industries.
- Current driver's licence essential and experience at off-road driving.
- Good written and verbal communication skills.
- Proficient computer skills including standard Microsoft Office applications.
- Demonstrated capability to learn and become competent in non-standard software use.

To apply

Please apply by sending a cover letter and current resume to HR via hr@aaco.com.au