

Assistant Operations Manager

- Established global trading business on growth path to IPO
- Dynamic high performing team
- Darwin based

North Australian Cattle Company

Established in 1989, the North Australian Cattle Company (NACC) is a world-leading livestock trader known for its strong customer relationships and consistent supply of high-quality animals, into global markets. NACC was recently divested from Elders Limited and is now owned by a private equity partnership between Chinese investors and the management team.

The Role

Having successfully divested out of Elders Limited and established itself as a standalone independent live export business NACC is now entering the next phase of our growth cycle. This includes:

- Upstream and downstream expansion of the business into livestock ownership, long term feeding of livestock and supply of processed beef into export markets;
- Preparation of the business for listing.

To support the business during this phase NACC is expanding its operations team in Darwin. Areas of focus for the Assistant Operations Manager will be:

- Loading of livestock vessels across Australia;
- Livestock management and procurement, both at shipments and on backgrounding properties;
- Ensuring NACC compliance with all export protocols and government regulations;
- Attendance of discharge operations in Indonesia, Vietnam, Malaysia and China as required.

The Person

Qualifications in business management and export processes would be considered favourably but are not essential. Previous involvement and experience with livestock is mandatory.

This role will suit someone with experience in the livestock industry and who is motivated by the opportunity to work in a high pressure but rewarding role. The ability to think on your feet and a keen eye for detail will be critical in this fast-paced environment.

Good communication skills and the ability to build strong relationships will be key to your success in this environment where you are working with cattle producers, livestock agents, logistics providers, overseas customers and shipping companies.

This is a great opportunity to join a dedicated team passionate about agriculture and be a part of the journey from a private equity owned live export business to a diversified listed agribusiness.
