

Feedlot Livestock Management Position

Rangers Valley operates a cattle feedlot and backgrounding operation in the Northern Tablelands area of New South Wales. The company specialises in the production and marketing of high quality longfed beef for domestic and international markets.

A management position has become available in the livestock section of the business as part of the operational team, reporting to the feedlot manager.

- Minimum 3-years feedlot experience
- Track record of staff management and leadership (referees essential)
- Training and competency in cattle handling
- Experience in feedlot animal health (pen riding, diagnosis, treatment)
- Ability to manage cattle inventory, intake and dispatch
- Able to liaise with veterinary and nutritional consultants
- Skilled in horsemanship
- Familiarity with NFAS, accreditation an advantage
- Strong QA and safety focus

This position will suit a person looking to step up to the next level of their career. It is a hands-on position responsible for the daily management of the livestock operations and requires weekend supervision on a roster.

The right person will be a motivated self-starter, with dedication, commitment and integrity.

This is a salary position with onsite accommodation and other benefits provided.
