

Slaughter Floor Supervisor – Gippsland

Join the team today.

100% Australian owned, Greenham has grown to become a significant player in the Australian meat processing industry with three sites and leading beef brands sold both domestically and exported to twenty five countries. The company has built a reputation on product quality, underpinned by an ethos of quality management and practices. This role is a great opportunity to join a dynamic organisation that offers an exciting work environment.

We require an experienced Slaughter Floor Supervisor at our Gippsland site in Moe.

The successful applicant should possess a deep knowledge of beef slaughtering techniques across the entire process including but not limited to the following responsibilities:

- Adherence to company and regulatory procedures to ensure product meets all required hygiene, Aus-Meat export and domestic regulations.
- Sound knowledge of Animal Welfare requirements applicable to an export processing facility.
- The ability to manage and maintain a team environment with regards to Training and Staff Development, OH&S and other company standards and procedures. Initiating corrective and preventive action where required.
- Maximising both efficiency of the slaughter floor process and production yields.

Greenham Gippsland is a 100% Australian family owned business. The plant has recently been renovated and is expanding production in new and modern facilities. It's an exciting time for new jobs in the region and the company is secure and stable.

Meat processing is strenuous work and requires physical fitness and strength. Applicants will have to undergo a medical examination and pre-employment drug and alcohol screening.

The company offers excellent wages and conditions.
