

FEEDLOT MANAGER

Royal Oak Beef operates a 1000 head feedlot, backgrounding and 750-acre farming enterprise at West Wyalong in Southern New South Wales. An exciting opportunity is available for an enthusiastic manager or couple to lead daily operations and expansion into the future. The position requires an experienced self-starter who can self-organise and lead a team to guide and improve operations. This is an all-rounders job and duties include administration reporting, feed processing and delivery, livestock inductions, health, animal welfare, staff management and general maintenance. The manager will lead a small team and have unlimited access to high class nutritional and feedlot management expertise that will assist with support, training and development.

The ability to instil safe work practices, quality assurance and best practice with your management style is vital and your integrity and work ethic will be rewarded with an innovative and competitive remuneration package, that includes on site accommodation and vehicle.
