

FEEDLOT MANAGER

Royal Oak Beef operates a 2500 head feedlot, back grounding and 750-acre farming enterprise 7kms from West Wyalong in Southern New South Wales. An exciting opportunity is available for an enthusiastic person to manage and have input into all facets of our growing business.

The position would suit an active self-starter who can organise and take pride in improving the site and daily operations. Duties include administration reporting, feed processing and delivery, livestock inductions, health, animal welfare, staff management and general maintenance. You will lead a small team and have unlimited access to high class nutritional and feedlot management expertise that will assist with support, training and development in your role.

The ability to instil safe work practices, quality assurance and best practice with your management style is vital and your integrity and work ethic will be rewarded with an innovative and competitive remuneration package.
