

AREA MANAGER

Allied Beef is Australia's Premium Beef Cattle Partner managing, marketing and producing beef cattle.

Allied Beef is looking for enthusiastic, motivated, results-driven self-starters to be Area Managers across Queensland and New South Wales. You will be responsible for building a portfolio of clients in your area so previous experience in the sales, marketing and production of cattle is paramount.

Our area managers have great support from the Allied Beef head office in Toowoomba, but you do need to be proactive in creating and identifying opportunities in your region.

Self-motivation, honesty, integrity and professionalism are all required to be successful in this position. Furthermore, it is important to understand your clients' needs. Clients need to be able to discuss their concerns and future plans with you, so together you can achieve these goals.
