INNAMINCKA STATION | Leading Hand

About Hancock Agriculture

A world-class agribusiness, Hancock Agriculture, incorporating S. Kidman & Co Pty Ltd and Hancock Prospecting Pty Ltd Services, has an exciting opportunity for an experienced and highly motivated Leading Hand to join our operations Innamincka Station.

Hancock Agriculture has a long and proud history in Agriculture. With over 30 properties across Australia, spanning 10 million hectares, we are one of the country's largest producers of beef with a herd of over 320,000.

About the Role

Innamincka Station is located in South Australia on the banks of the iconic Cooper Creek, in the heart of Burke & Wills country.

We are an active, enthusiastic and passionate team who love our work and the animals we care for. We work hard but enjoy the lifestyle that our location offers us, and days off are only limited by your imagination – swimming, fishing, canoeing and attending weekend events at surrounding towns.

About the Role

The Leading Hand will support the Head Stockperson in planning, implementing and evaluating the livestock management program.

Key duties and responsibilities include:

- Assist in the allocation of day-to-day tasks;
- Supervision and coaching of Station Hands;
- Movement, handling and monitoring of cattle;
- Use for horses and bikes for mustering

Successful applicants will meet the following criteria:

- Good communication, interpersonal and leadership skills
- Knowledge of station operations
- Competent in the use of horses and motorbikes
- Ability to handle cattle in a quiet and controlled manner
- Current Drivers licence is required (HR to MC licence desirable)
- Motor bike licence (preferred)

What We Offer You:

- Remuneration commensurate with experience
- Air-conditioned, single room accommodation
- Quality home-cooked meals
- Training and development
- Great team culture
