

We reward passion and knowledge.

Farm Operations Manager

Lawson Grains is Australia's leading corporate grain farmer which has been achieved through a team of passionate people and stakeholders who are engaged in the industry for the long run. We have scale with land holdings in excess of 90,000 hectares across 10 aggregations throughout NSW and WA. We also implement best practice, utilising the latest technology, machinery and innovation.

Reporting to the Farm Manager, this permanent position is based at our Hakea aggregation located near the township of Munglinup in Southern WA.

Key responsibilities will include:

- Actively promote and support HSE standards and lead by example
- Plan, organise and execute all cropping operations in line with budget expectations
- Control inventory storages and carry out end of month stock take procedures
- Liaise with Agronomist and Farm Manager to achieve best practice outcomes for spraying, fertilising, seeding and harvest of all crops
- Implement all annual maintenance and capital improvement programs
- Develop an effective work team through regular encouragement, training and coaching.

Key requirements for this role:

- Experience in broad acre grain farm management and crop management including the operation of all associated plant and machinery
- Strong organisational and planning skills
- Demonstrated ability and experience in staff and contractor management
- Attention to detail in all aspects of business operations
- Agriculture degree or diploma will be considered favourable, but not essential.

If you have a passion for farming, can perform under pressure and are looking for a role that requires determination, creative thinking and a drive for continuous improvement, then this role provides an exciting opportunity.

An attractive remuneration package including housing, utilities and a work vehicle will be negotiated with the successful candidate. Other benefits include 5 weeks leave, wellbeing program, personal development and career progression opportunities.

If you have the above skills and experience and are looking for a new challenge or the next step in your career, visit our website (www.lawsongrains.com) to lodge your application. If you would like further information, contact Julie Plunkett on 0437 122 897.

LAWSON GRAINS