

Station Manager

A unique opportunity is now available for a station manager on a well-established, privately owned business in the New England region of NSW.

“Strathbogie” is an aggregation totalling 7,455 hectares located 14kms west of Emmaville and 48kms north of Glen Innes, NSW. The property supports an Angus cow herd, Merino ewe flock and trading enterprises.

You will manage a small, high performing team to ensure the best returns of each enterprise, alongside ongoing improvements.

The operation is part of a larger family structure with properties located throughout Queensland that is supported by a dedicated team.

Applicants for this position should ideally have:

- At least 5 years’ experience leading a team as either a manager or overseer.
- A proven track record of pasture and livestock management, including a commitment to animal welfare.
- Sound business management skills, including computer skills, budgeting, planning, record keeping and reporting.
- The ability to think strategically and adapt as circumstances dictate.
- Excellent communication skills.
- A sound understanding and commitment to OH & S.
- Experience in managing rotational grazing systems, would be an advantage.

This is a position with long term career opportunities for the right applicant.

An attractive salary package will be offered to the successful applicant which includes a well maintained four-bedroom manager’s residence in an established garden.
