

Innovation Communications Co-ordinator

- Bringing together science, communications and agribusiness
- Excellent career growth opportunity
- North Sydney based

THE COMPANY

Australian Eggs is the peak services body providing marketing and research & development (R&D) services to the Australian egg industry. Working together with the egg industry and the Australian Government, Australian Eggs strives to deliver value to industry and the public by investing in programs that ensure industry sustainability.

THE ROLE

The Innovation Communications Co-ordinator will work as part of the Innovation Program team that develop and manage research and innovation projects across the value chain. They deliver outcomes and technology to industry and the wider stakeholder network that promote improved productivity, performance, sustainability and animal welfare outcomes.

The role is responsible for proactively communicating Innovation Program outcomes and creating content that demonstrates the outputs and achievements of the team. It plays a hands-on role in the delivery of extension activities to stakeholders and formulating new approaches to engaging with key players across industry.

Furthermore, they will have ongoing input in ensuring the effective implementation of the organisations Strategic Plan by coordinating programs that assist with the identification of issues and areas of opportunity, as well as project planning and coordinating stakeholder and external engagement for research and innovation activities.

THE REQUIREMENTS

The successful applicant will need to meet the following requirements:

- Proven project management skills including the ability to proactively plan and manage timelines and competing demands;
- Tertiary qualifications in science or another related field;
- Background in communications – science and/or agriculture will be highly regarded;
- Strong technical writing skills required to translate innovation outputs for different audiences and skills in written review, summarising and distilling research;
- Experience in the operation of research, innovation and extension programs;
- Excellent interpersonal oral communication and presentation skills with the ability to coordinate and run events and workshops;
- Experience in liaising, communicating and building relationships with stakeholders including egg farmers, researchers, service providers and government bodies.

LOCATION AND REMUNERATION

Full time, permanent role based in North Sydney. Competitive salary on offer for the successful candidate.

TO APPLY

Please send your application to resume@agri.com.au

Or

phone David Compton on 02 9223 9944 for a confidential discussion.