

Quality Assurance Manager

Australian Meat Group is an Australian owned meat processor and export business established by industry professionals. We are seeking an experienced Quality Assurance Manager who has worked in a beef processing operation to be based at our Dandenong South facility.

About the Role:

Reporting to the Group Quality Assurance Manager, the positions main focus will be implementing effective and efficient quality assurance systems in the manufacturing facility as well as assisting with various Quality Assurance tasks and projects.

Some of the key responsibilities of the position include:

- Enforce quality, regulatory and food safety standards, perform the necessary checks and provide immediate feedback.
- Work closely with the Department of Agriculture, Ausmeat and other regulatory organisations.
- Conduct internal audits on the quality system.
- Co-ordinate pre-operational hygiene checks and action any issues cleaning
- Daily reporting as required.
- Working closely with production supervisors, employees and site management to ensure conformance to company standards and customer specifications.
- Daily GMP checks and report on breaches
- Identify and implement continuous improvement initiatives.
- Closeout CARs, NCRs and incident findings as necessary
- Monitor the HACCP program.
- Co-ordinate micro sampling, micro swabbing, etc.
- Investigate customer complaints
- Responsible for leading preparation for external audits
- Able to lead the QA team effectively and efficiently
- Assisting Quality Assurance team members with ad hoc duties as required.
- Update the Approved Arrangement and Work Instructions as necessary.

The successful candidate will have worked in a beef processing facility and have Ausmeat qualifications as well as being an experienced Quality Assurance practitioner.

You will be proficient in the use of all aspects of Microsoft Office and your communication skills, attention to detail as well as accuracy and the ability to work under pressure and prioritise your work load sets you apart from the rest.

If this sounds like an opportunity that interests you, then please submit a copy of your resume, outlining your current skills and experience to employment@amg.com.au

Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted.