

Station / Farm Hand – Warwick, Qld

Remuneration – negotiable on experience

- Experience in a similar role preferred
- Must have a current drivers licence
- Basic mechanical maintenance knowledge of general servicing and repairs
- Previous livestock handling experience
- Operating experience of tractors and farm machinery maintenance

A permanent full time position is available for a farm hand to join our family owned and operated mixed farming operation and specialised stud bull preparation facility close to Warwick, Qld. You will be reporting to and working alongside the owner and the successful applicant will present with some property maintenance and machinery operation experience.

You will be involved in the daily station hand duties including: stud processes of weighing and scanning cattle, pen monitoring and cleaning of feed troughs, feeding livestock including feed mixes and lick runs, maintenance of fences, stock waters and other property maintenance as required. Farming activities will include but not be limited to planting, cultivating and chemical application.

This is a great opportunity for someone with an excellent work ethic, who is reliable to become part of a well-established family entity in a long term position.

Applicants to send a current resume and contactable relevant working references to be considered for this role.

For more information, contact John on 0429 647 259

or email nikki@valeravale.com.au