

Station Overseer - Mutooroo

The Mutooroo Pastoral Company operates sheep and cattle enterprises in South Australia, on the border near Broken Hill. The company is seeking an overseer on Mutooroo Station, 100km south-west of Broken Hill.

The station runs a flock of 15,000 Merino ewes along with an internal Poll Merino stud to improve genetics and breed rams for Mutooroo and the other stations. The position is well suited to applicants wishing to further their career, and requires skills in planning, delegation and mentoring a team of up to five staff.

Applicant's characteristics and skills should include:

- Positive attitude, self-motivation
- Team leadership along with planning, delegation and mentoring
- Good communication
- Sheep husbandry
- General station maintenance
- Along with experience in the operation of heavy machinery including front-end loaders and graders R, MR, HR or HC license endorsements would be an advantage.

A tidy and comfortable on-property 2-3 bedroom cottage with an established garden and small orchard is available to the successful applicant.

A competitive salary is offered and includes full board and keep, 24-hour power, and unlimited satellite internet, along with flexible employment for a partner if required. The salary is paid via EFT on a monthly basis.

Training is available to improve skills and provide appropriate accreditation.

Please apply with resume and references to Mutooroo Station manager Adam Lomman - mutooroo@mutooroo.com. For more information contact via email or phone 08 8091 1616.