

We're on the lookout for a Livestock Manager to join our Goonoo crew. It's a hands-on gig where you'll be in charge of our Livestock Team, making sure everything runs smoothly.

What you'll be up to:

- Keeping a close eye on our cattle intake schedule and making sure they're fed, watered, and happy.
- Checking out our cattle prior to induction, ensuring they meet our specs in terms of weight, type, and overall health.
- Managing induction processed and procedures, giving the green light to our trained staff for any necessary treatments.
- Coordinating cattle movements within the feedlot, making sure everyone is in the right place at the right time.
- Riding the pens daily to keep things in line with our Livestock Procedures.
- Working hand-in-hoof with our friendly Vet and making sure our hospital procedures are on point.
- Leading the charge on culling and carcass management – not the most glamorous part of the job, but someone's got to do it!
- Keeping tabs on our supplies, whether it's induction gear, hospital drugs, or anything else our cattle may need.
- Supervising the selection and drafting of cattle for dispatch – getting them ready for their next adventure.

What we're looking for:

- Someone with a knack for coaching and mentoring, who loves seeing their team succeed.
- Experience in hitting set KPIs and making sure the financial targets are met.
- A strategic thinker with a focus on successful execution of the Station's program
- Organisational whiz with skills in planning, especially in our lively and diverse environment.
- Tech-savvy and not afraid to use it to innovate and streamline our business.
- Stakeholder management is your key strength
- Experience in feedlot cattle management and a good understanding of animal welfare.
- Knowledgeable about Quality Assurance Programs.
- A pro at handling the nitty-gritty of operational cattle management.

Perks of the job:

- Competitive pay and allowances.
- Wi-Fi, air-conditioned accommodation, and meals provided
- Recognition for your hard work and great discounts with our preferred suppliers.
- Ongoing training and development, because we're all about growing together.
- Internal transfer and career opportunities
- Travel reimbursement and Novated lease opportunities

If you're ready to roll up your sleeves and find your extraordinary, apply now! We're waiting to welcome our new Livestock Manager with open arms.