

Stock Person (Seasonal Contract) – Somerset Aggregation at Northmark

- Seasonal Role (Sep. – Dec.) during calving season
- Training and Development opportunities
- Leading Northern Australian internal genetics program
- Competitive remuneration package

Stock Person (Seasonal) Somerset Aggregation, Somerset Region (SEQ)

Northmark is seeking a Stock Person for a seasonal contract (10-12 weeks) during the upcoming calving season at our Somerset Aggregation in the Somerset Region of Southeast Queensland. This position offers a hands-on opportunity to contribute to the productivity, research, and welfare of our beef cattle operations, aligning with Northmark's commitment to agricultural innovation and excellence.

About Northmark

Northmark aspires to be a leader in the agricultural industry, with an initial focus of enhancing extensive northern production systems through advanced fertility and management practices. Our approach combines tradition with innovation, ensuring sustainable and profitable outcomes.

At the forefront of agricultural innovation, our enterprise aspires to be a dynamic force in the beef cattle industry, managing over 10 expansive properties and nurturing over 2,000 animals throughout the Brisbane Valley. Our approach is deeply rooted in scientific principles and evidence-based practices, reflecting our commitment to forward-thinking and sustainable farming.

The Opportunity

This seasonal role is a crucial part of our team during the calving season, supporting our growth, R&D initiatives and continuous improvement in livestock management. Northmark greatly values the contribution of our team members, offering a supportive environment where safety and welfare are prioritised.

About the Property

Located in the picturesque Brisbane Valley, the Somerset Aggregation provides a dynamic and rewarding work setting. The property set plays a pivotal role in our breeding and livestock management strategies, greatly contributing to Northmarks success in the Agricultural sector.

Role Overview

As a Stock Person on a seasonal contract, you will:

- Be actively involved in the calving process, including calf catching, recording data and managing health and welfare.
- Perform DNA test sampling and accurate record keeping supporting our R&D data input standards.
- Work collaboratively with the team to ensure smooth, safe and efficient operations.
- Adhere to company animal welfare standards and safety protocols.

Ideal Candidate

- Experienced in handling livestock, with a focus on calf catching and record keeping.
- Able to work effectively in a team and independently.
- Physically capable and willing to work in various outdoor conditions.
- Sound understanding of grass budgeting and herd management.
- A good understanding of calving herds.
- Experience working with in-field data platforms.
- Committed and demonstrable history in upholding high levels of animal welfare practices and farm safety.

We Offer

- A competitive salary package for the contract period.
- Opportunity to gain valuable experience in a leading agribusiness.
- A supportive and dynamic team environment.

Join us at Northmark for the coming calving season and play a key role in enhancing the production systems of the northern Australian beef cattle industry.

How to Apply

Please send your resume and cover letter detailing why you are the right fit for the role to chris@northmark.ag