

Livestock Supervisor

Short description

Lead livestock yard operations, drive team performance, and uphold high animal welfare and safety standards at Bindaree Food Group.

Bullet points

- Supervise livestock handling and yard operations daily
- Lead a team with a strong safety and welfare focus
- Join a respected, integrated paddock-to-plate business

About us

Bindaree Food Group (BFG) is a vertically integrated supply chain business. From humble beginnings, we've grown to deliver tailored protein solutions from paddock to plate, serving both Australian and international markets.

We are a people-first business, valuing the experience and passion of our team. This passion is reflected in the unique flavor we bring to our products and relationships, cultivated across generations, geographies, and cultures.

About the Role

As Livestock Supervisor, you'll oversee daily stockyard operations and lead a team in safely and efficiently managing cattle movements and processing. Working closely with production, QA, and livestock buying teams, you'll play a critical role in ensuring compliance with animal welfare, quality, and safety standards. This role suits someone with practical livestock experience, natural leadership, and a strong commitment to continuous improvement.

Key Responsibilities

- Lead and coordinate livestock team and contractor activities
- Ensure animal welfare, safety, and compliance standards are met
- Monitor cattle health and verify incoming documentation
- Manage yard schedules aligned with production planning
- Drive improvements in stockyard operations and reporting

Requirements

- Experience in livestock supervision or management
- Strong knowledge of animal welfare best practices
- Good written and verbal communication skills
- Proficient in MS Office (Excel, Outlook) and data entry
- Highly organised, detail-focused, and solutions-oriented
- Ability to manage teams in high-paced environments
- Comfortable working with compliance, QA, and scheduling

Why Choose Us

At Bindaree Food Group, you'll step into a leadership role within a proudly Australian, paddock-to-plate agribusiness. We offer a values-driven, team-oriented culture with strong support from the wider livestock and operational teams. Your work will have direct impact across our integrated supply chain and you'll be part of a business that values its people, performance, and animal care equally.
