

EXPERIENCED WORKING STATION MANAGER

Seeking an experienced Working Station Manager for a well-established sheep enterprise in regional NSW.

This hands-on leadership role is responsible for the overall performance of the station, overseeing day-to-day operations and the management of large-scale livestock numbers. Experience across Merino, prime lamb, composite or mixed sheep enterprises is critical.

The successful applicant will lead livestock operations, planning, maintenance, contractor coordination, budgeting and reporting, with the autonomy to manage the property as if it were their own. Cattle and cropping experience will be advantageous.

This is a long-term opportunity within an established and successful operation with clear progression goals, performance recognition and bonus incentives.

Package includes:

- Attractive salary package
- Four-bedroom house including utilities
- Work vehicle
- Bonus incentive opportunities
- Food and veterinary care for up to two working dogs
- Relocation assistance considered for the right candidate

Suitable for singles, couples and families. Applicants should have their own working dogs and a minimum of 3-5 years' management experience or equivalent.
